The Kaufman Case Taken Under Advisement -Other Work of the Board.

The Board of County Commissioners was engaged up to noon yesterday in hearing evidence as to the character of the barrelhouse conducted by Kaufman & Son on West Washington street, against which the neighborhood has arrayed itself. The question of granting a license to the Kaufmans was taken under advisement until 10 o'clock to-day.

"FARMER" MATTHEWS.

His Cartoon Will Adorn a Page of the Hen-

The Hendricks Club Guide is to make its farewell bow with the next issue, the contract for its publication with Myron King and Chris Stein then expiring. It was once decided by the board of directors to wind up its career, but a contract and only one more issue were shown, and it was impossible for the "90 per cent." to choke it off. The "Guide" is to signalize its demise with a cartoon, given to each reader, labeled "Farmer" Matthews. It shows the plantation-owner seated on a high, square-built load of hay. His head is life size, but the body is slim as a pencil, and is attired in nity bank-clerk style, with sleek linen and tie, and a dainty handkerchief peoping out from an outside breast pocket. There is nothing to suggest a farmer, except the hay and the name, and there is an amusing incongruity in the combination, which the real sons of the held will undoubtedly learn before the campaign is over. In the rear is the State Capitol, but the driver seems to be going in an opposite direction quite "appositely."

The Shields Club.

The Shields Club, at its regular meeting last night, appointed John Higgins, William Finn and John Sullivan as a committee to make arrangements for attending the Chicago convention. About 125 have signified their intention to go, and if the number increases to 150, the club will go in a body. "We are all for Cleveland," said Maurice Donnelly last night. "Out of a membership of three hundred, I don't think there is one who is for Gray."

An Incipient Strike.

Work on the new fair ground track was delayed for a short time yesterday by a small strike. A number of teams, which had been getting $3 a day, stopped work with a demand for $3.50. Four of them had not been giving satisfactory service, Super-intendent Peed said, and these were discharged. The rest were granted the de-mand, and those before receiving $3.50 were raised to $4. Superintendent Peed says there are twenty teams at work, and that he will put on twenty more as son as he can get them.

HALL GIVEN A NEW TRIAL

Judge Olds Holds that the Trial Court Erred in Admitting Evidence.

The Mur er of Sheridan Hughes in Lagrange County Recalled - Furton Gets even Years -ruing the Freeman-Other Cases.

The Supreme Court yesterday handed down a decision, written by Judge Olds, reversing the case of Martin Hall vs. State, which came up from Lagrange county. Hall was convicted of marder, the victim being Sheridan E. Hughes, who died from the effects of poison. The evidence showed that Hughes, whose wife owned a fourhundred-acre farm, which Hughes managed, had rented a field to Hall for raising wheat. On Sept. 16, 189!, Hughes and Hall were about the barn, and Hall asked Hughes to take a drink of blackberry wine, holding up a bottle of the liquor. Hughes told Hall to drink first, and Hall pretended to do so, and handed the bottle to Hughes, who drained its contents. It tasted very bitter, he said, and he accused Hall of having put quinine in it. In two hours' time Hughes was dead, and the liquor was shown to have contained poison. The motive of the murder does not appear from the opinion. The The court declares that the trial court erred in admitting certain evidence, and remands the case for a new trial. Hall is serving a life sentence.

Suing for Slander. Miss Grace E. Lucas, through her attorney, James T. V. Hill, the colored lawyer, filed suit yesterday against Edward C. Cooper, editor of the Freeman, and Perter Furguson, a Baptist minister, of North Indianapolis, for $2,000 damages for alleged libelous articles published in the Freeman. Miss Lucas is a teacher in the colored school at North Indianapolis, and the Free-man, upon a communication furnished by Furguson, criticised her conduct. A colored mail-carrier by the name of Thompt appears, has been keeping compa with Miss Lucas, and several parties in the suburb thought this was altogether improper in a school-teacher. The communication published east an insinuation upon the character of Miss Lucas, and she asks for $2,000 damages against the parties.

Argument Being Made. The attorneys in the McDonald will case were yesterday arguing the motion for a change of venue from the county. Ferd Winter, one of the attorney's for the contestants, had a complete law library piled on his deak in the Circuit Court, from which he was citing authorities to sustain the rule of court providing that such mo-tions must be filed before the cause is set for trial. There are prospects of a long and heated argument on the question as to whether or not such a rule can be sustained, and it is possible the case may go to the Supreme Court on that point.

Got Out an Injunction. Joseph H. Clark and W. E. Mick have brought mjunction proceedings against the city of Indianapolis to restrain them from opening Twenty-second street to a width of more than forty feet. They say in their complaint that when Hyde Park was platted the plat, which set off twenty feet for the north side of the street was accepted by the city commissioner, and that now the city has ordered the street opened to a width of fifty feet, thereby appropriating five feet of their property without awarding them any damages therefor.

Burton Gets Seven Years. The jury in the Burton murder trial brought in their verdict at 9:15 yesterday morning. They found Burton guilty of manslaughter and fixed his punishment at seven years in the penitentiary. Burton took the verdict lightly and laughed and chatted with his attorneys over it. His parents, who were in the room, did not take it so easy. While they made no demonstration their faces plainly showed a great effort to subdue themselves. By good time Burton can be released in four years and eleven months.

The complaint alleges that McCool received $1,800 from the government as back pension, and invested it in real estate, taking the title in his wife's name to avoid the payment of a debt of $123 due to Wishard.

THE FRENZELIAN TACTICS

John and Brother Otto Seeking to Get Control of the School Board.

They Have Candidates in Fach District-Hiring Express Wagens-Mr. Maner Says ile ls No: a Frenzel Candi ate.

A great many citizens who understand that there is no salary attached to the office of school commissioner wonder why John P. Frenzel should be so deeply interested in the election of three of these officers-one each in the Fourth, Seventh and Eighth school districts. Those who are behind the scenes understand the programme. Mr. Frenzel desires to be president of the board, a very laudable ambition. In the hold-over membership he has three votes he can count upon, his own and two others. To achieve this ambition he needs three more votes, a total of six, which will be a majority, the board having eleven members. To get these three votes the three members elected must all be Frenzel men, and those who claim to know more than intimate that Mr. Adam and Mr. Roth, who gopose Mr. Williams and Mr. Buddenbaum in the Eighth and Seventh districts, have been selected because they can be counted upon by Mr. Frenzel. The same is true in the Fourth district, where there are three candidates-Denny, Russe and Mauer. In the last-named district Mr. Russe, who is a Democrat, is said to be the Frenzel candidate. It is charged that the Frenzel interest is responsible for the rumors going about that Mr. Mauer and not Mr. Russe is the Frenzel candidate. Mr. Mauer, who was interviewed by a Journal reporter last evening, spoke with considerable warmth on the subject. "I am not Mr. Frenzel's candidate or anybody's candidate," said Mr. Mauer. "I have not had any business with John Frenzel for years. Neither John Frenzel nor Otto Frenzel has been to see Frenzel nor Otto Frenzel has been to see me regarding my candidacy. The first man to ask me to come out for school commissioner was Mr. Russe. He afterwards announced himself as a candidate. Mr. Denny, the third candidate, is an excellent gentleman. It now looks to me as it Mr. Russie's plan was to divide the vote between Mr. Denny and myself so as to insure his own election. This is a correct statement of the situation. I want it made plan as possible that I am in no sense the plain as possible that I am in no sense the Frenzel candidate." The people in all these school districts Babette Papaport, wife of Philip Rapa- election of this kind ever before held, and a large vote is expected. It is learned that the Frenzel interest has been securing express wagons to haul voters to the polls and going to considerable expense in other directions. There will be a revolt against this method by the thinking class of voters who are opposed to making Mr. Frenzel the boss of the School Board, and thus adding that body to the other interests of which he has autocratic control.

Mr. Frenzel does not ask to be treasurer of the board, but if his scheme carries to elect the three new men, he will name the treasurer and the place of deposit for the funds, which will be quite as good. If his programme carries there will probably be no question raised by him about interest.

In the three districts—the Fourth, Seventh and Eighth-which are to elect mem-bers to-morrow-his henchmen are and have been actively at work, and if the people allow themselves to be caught napping they will wake up Sunday to find that the Frenzel grasp has been tightened and extended. The antagonism to John A. Buddenbaum in the Seventh district, who has been a highly useful and efficient member, is traced to the Frenzels. The same may be said of E. F. Williams, of the Eighth district, where Otto Frenzel has been circulating a petition in the interest of his competitor. In the Fourth district the Frenzel tactics are as plain and determined as in the Seventh and Eighth.

With the School Board as new constituted the school system of Indianapolis is one of the few things left that John P. Frenzei does not run. The voters of the Fourth, Seventh and Eighth districts who desire to keep the Inzelism would do well to look to the elections of Saturday. In Committee of the Whole, The School Board, as a committee of the whole, met last evening to consider the appointment of teachers, but nothing was given out. The result of the committee's conclusions will be made known at the next meeting of the board.

A Good Capture. Detective James arrested Alonzo Fullen, Ben Simonton and Henry Smith on West Washington street last night, on suspicion that they were participants in the safecracking at Rosstown, in Boone county, a few nights since. Fullen had a certified check for $50 and $10 cash, which he could not account for. They were held as loiter-ers, with the exception of Smith, who was charged with grand lareeny and being a

THE POGUE'S-RUN DISTRICT

A Citizens' Meeting Held to Take Action Toward Abating a Nuisance.

The Meeting Addr sand by Mayor Sullivan. Who Outlines Mr Il ring's Sewera e Plan -A Committee Appointed.

A meeting of property-owners and citizens who have suffered from the recent depredations of Pogue's run was held last evening at Reichwein's Hall, at the corner of Market and Noble streets. It was a representative meeting, about 150 representative residents of that part of the city being in attendance. Mr. Henry Bauer called the meeting to order and stated its purpose to be to devise means for the relief of that part of the city bordering on Pogue's run from the annoyance and damage that result from its periodic overflows. On motion, Mr. Bauer was selected to preside over the meeting and Martin Hugg was chosen secretary. Mayor Sullivan had been invited to be present, and, being introduced, addressed the meeting at considerable length. He said the deplorable results arising from the frequent overflow of the stream had caused the city administration much concern, and any other that influenced the Mayor and the Board of Public Works to secure the services of Mr. Rudolph Hering, the sewer expert, to devise a general system of drainage and sewerage. Mayor Sullivan gave some general points of Mr. Hering's recommendations relative to Pogue's run, but did not go into details. The survey made shows that the run drains seven thousand acres of territory. All this territory is so thoroughly ditched and tiled that, after a rain, the water comes down with a rush, and the result is the overflow. The plan proposed by Mr. Hering contemplates the widening deepening and walling of the stream. The present system of bridges, also, that obstruct the flow of the water, will be torn out and arched bridges are to be substituted. The Hering plan also contemplates a system of sewers to lead off from the run at stated distances, draining the water from the run to the river Mayor Sullivan said the expense of carrying out the proposed plan would be immense, and it will probably be more ex- | save money. pensive to property-owners than an as-phalt street, but the work would be done in time, even though it took years to complete it. Mayor Sullivan said that some plans had been made for affording partial relief at once. During the present summer the culvert at the Washington-street crossing will be taken out, and an arch bridge will be put in. The ten thousand dollars appropriated on account of Pogue's run will be used in this improvement. It will be only sufficient for about half the work, but next year's appropriation will be available by Sept 1. Other Washingtonstreet features of the work can be comleted this year.

Conneilman Rassmann was called and spoke briefly. He said the Council would co-operate with the Board of Public Works and the Mayor n the work of relieving the situation on Pogue's run, and he thought some means of alleviating the present condition would be speedily devised. He said that in addition to the Washington-street crossing the culvert at the Dickson storage crossing and at the C., H. & D. crossing would also be torn out, and it was believed the removal of these obstructions would go far toward affording relief. Mr. Rassman made a motion that a committee of tive be appointed tion that a committee of five be appointed to take the matter in charge, and see that the plans for relief are not permitted to lag. the motion was carried and Chairman Bauer appointed Philip Reichwein, William Schmitts, Frank Dell, Martin Hugg and John Aldag. On motion of John Aldag Chairman Bauer was added to the com-

Short speeches were made by Judge Denny, William Schmitts and others and the meeting adjourned. Mayor Sullivan in closing his address made reference to the muddy condition of the streets still said that the protracted rains had greatly interfered with plans for street work, but it was hoped that the backbone of the flood had been broken, and the street department would give its attention to mud, pools, and the other wet weather fruits. In connection with the awful condition of the streets, there appears a disposition to make tribulation for Street Commissioner Harrold, and impeachment proceed-ings are not improbable. At the last meet-ing of the Council be and his management were roundly exceriated. The Board of Public Works is also dissatisfied with the Harrold management. It is claimed that thousands of dollars have been spent without much of anything to show for it.

The street commissioner is also charged with being contrary and intractable. He has been ordered by the board to clean certain streets and has paid no attention to orders. The fact is that the most conspicuous feature of the management of the street-cleaning department has been its in-competence. Mr. Harrold may not be im-peached or fired, but it is not likely that he will hold on any longer than the expira-

The Gas Question. Whether the old Twenty-first ward, Irvington and Brightwood will be supplied with natural gas by a new line to be laid by the Indianapolis Natural-gas Company | All Kinds was not decided yesterday. Yesterday afternoon President Dietrich and Superintendent Pearson drove out to the gasless districts and made a reconnoisance. They probably will give their decision to-day. This will probably be favorable to the old I wenty-first ward and to Irvington, and there is a bare possibility that Brightwood may squeeze in at the eleventh hour.
